

Weather Watch for Junior Girl Scouts

Saturday, September 27th, 2008 10am-1pm
at Siebel Center, UIUC Campus

The Student Chapter of the American Meteorological Society at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign is proud to present:

Girls will rotate through stations along with a guide who keeps things moving so that they don't miss any action. We have packed lots of activities into a Saturday morning including and exceeding the requirements to earn the Weather Watch Badge.

We would like this activity to be fun and successful – we need volunteers! There are many different opportunities to participate in this activity, for example:

- *Help write and organize workbook
- *Set up activities (clean up) the morning (afternoon) of the event
- *Organize and lead presentations
- *Help group of girls go from one activity to the other
- *Organization of the event – registration, certificates, etc.
